1991 OUTLOOK

Jerry Moore enters his third season as head football coach at Appalachian State University and welcomes 44 lettermen, including 15 starters, for the 1991 campaign.

In Moore's second year at the helm, the Mountaineers finished the 1990 season 6-5-0, their sixth straight winning year on the gridiron, and 5-2-0 in the Southern Conference, finishing second in the league. The year gave Moore a 15-8-0 two-season record at Appalachian, and two consecutive runner-up finishes in the conference.

Moore's squad finished the campaign by winning four of the last five, including three of the final four road contests of the season.

Missing from the 1990 squad are 18 lettermen and 10 starters. Six defensive starters must be replaced, along with four starters on offense. In all, the Mountaineers have lost eight offensive lettermen, nine off the defensive unit, and one specialist.

On defense, both starters at inside linebacker, Dwayne Pelham and Johnny Jennings, have departed, with defensive end Chuck Phifer, outside linebacker Donnie Durham, defensive lineman Mike Frier, and free safety Brian Hendren also gone from last season's starting lineup. Offensively, three starters on the line are gone in All-Southern Conference tackle Greg Barnette, center Tommy Ball, and tackle Chris Coats. Also leaving a starting spot is Jeff Dudan, who started six games at fullback and five contests at tight end in 1990.

"We lost some key players at some important positions, and we have to immediately fill those spots, but we are fortunate that we didn't lose many players. We will miss those players, but we feel that we have people in the program to move in and take on the roles left by the 18 lost lettermen. The departing players not only performed very well in games for us, but also provided outstanding leadership and the examples they set on and off the field will help the returning players."

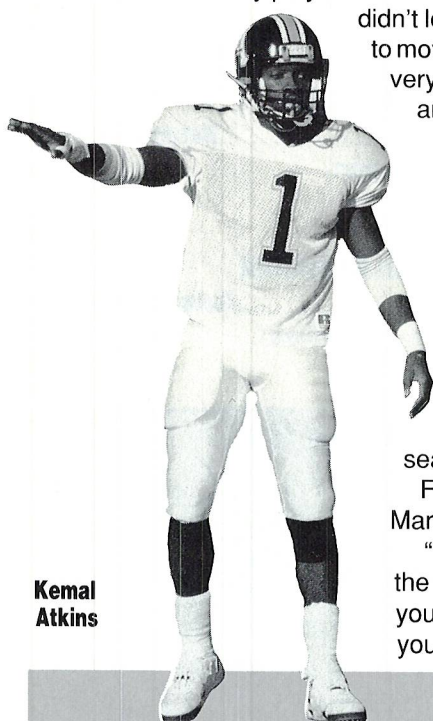

SCHEDULE

The Mountaineers face a challenging schedule, with two games against NCAA I-A opponents in Clemson and Wake Forest, and all seven Southern Conference foes. In addition, Appalachian will host I-AA opponent James Madison and NCAA Division II powerhouse Mississippi College. But, the Mountaineers will play five home games (opposed to just four in 1990) and four of the first five contests in 1991 will be in Boone, including three league opponents.

"We are glad to have five home appearances, due to the fan support, the student and campus enthusiasm, and the fact that we have been very successful at home the last five seasons."

For the second straight season, Appalachian will open with a Southern Conference game, hosting Marshall in Kidd Brewer Stadium on Aug. 31.

"The down-side of opening the year with a conference team, is that a loss hurts your chances for the league crown, and puts extra pressure on that first game. But, on the positive side, it is a game you can really focus on and everyone is ready to get the season underway. Playing Aug. 31 gives you a short summer, which can be very good for the team."

CAPSULE OUTLOOK

Head Coach: Jerry Moore (Baylor, 1961). Third year as head coach of the Mountaineers. Tenth season as college head coach, compiling a 42-56-2 overall mark. Stands 15-8-0 at Appalachian. Posted 11-11-0 record in two seasons as head coach at North Texas State, and was 16-37-2 in five years as head coach at Texas Tech. Named Mountaineer head coach on March 5, 1989, Moore came to ASU after serving as receivers coach and recruiting coordinator at Arkansas in 1988. Also served on coaching staffs at Southern Methodist (1965-1971), and Nebraska (1972-1979).

Following the Marshall game, the Mountaineers take on Clemson on the road Sept. 7, then return for three consecutive home games with Virginia Military (Sept. 14), James Madison (Sept. 21), and Tenn-Chattanooga (Sept. 28).

After that three-game home stand, Appalachian plays four road contests in a five-week span. Appalachian goes to Wake Forest (Oct. 5), East Tennessee State (Oct. 12), and Furman (Oct. 19), then has an open Saturday, before going to The Citadel (Nov. 2).

The Mountaineers will stage Homecoming festivities with a Nov. 9 matchup with Mississippi College, then finish the regular season at Western Carolina on Nov. 16.

"I think this is a challenging schedule, and that five-week period without a home game will test us. But, this schedule is a good one, and with a more experienced team than a year ago, our players will react very positively to each and every ball game, no matter where it is."

OFFENSIVE LINE

In the interior front, two starters return, along with two other lettermen, and three defensive letter winners move over to help this area. John Colbert and Kitt Hill return to starting spots at guard from a season ago, with Wesley Charles and Eric Roberts back after seeing action as starters in 1990. Dustin Reeves, Wayne Brown and Derek Fewell move over from the defensive side. Colbert started 10 games at left guard, with Hill getting the nod in nine contests. Colbert was in on 603 plays, Hill 608 in 1990. Charles was a starter in one fray, with Roberts getting two starts at center. Reeves made the switch late in the season to the offensive front and saw action in 95 snaps. Fewell lettered on the defensive line with 19 tackles in nine outings, and Brown was reshirted for medical reasons after earning a monogram on defense in 1989.

"We have more experience on the line heading into 1990 than we did this time last year. We have made some moves from defense to give us some real depth on the offensive front line. We did lose three starters, but the experience level from the first unit to the second unit is now the same overall, so we feel this is a positive factor for us."

OFFENSIVE BACKFIELD

"This area is more experienced and is one in which we have identified depth. We have a good deal of versatility among the returnees and that is going to be a key for us in 1991."

Leading rusher and receiver J.K. Reaves is back after gaining 634 yards on the ground and grabbing 29 passes as a sophomore. Reaves started eight games at tailback and three at fullback last season and will head into fall drills as the first string fullback. Al Ellis returns after starting two games at both running back slots. Ellis ranked second in rushing in 1990 with 325 yards and was third on the squad with 15 receptions. He also threw for a score. Johnny Smith, a starter in the final contest at tailback, is questionable for the 1991 season, suffering a broken leg in spring drills. Also returning is fullback Tyrone Talbert, who earned a letter in the backfield and on special teams last season.

D.J. Campbell returns having started in all 23 of his college games. He threw for 1,145 yards, and finished as the team's third best ground gainer with 264 yards. Campbell ran for four scores and threw for two in 1990. He is backed up by Andy Arnold, who saw action in four tilts a season ago.

"Johnny Smith's injury is a major setback, but we do have three players in Campbell, Reaves and Ellis who have played an awful lot since the day they set foot on this campus. We also have players in Talbert and Arnold who have game experience and have really improved this area."

RECEIVERS

Eight lettermen are back in the receiving corps, five wide receivers and three tight ends. Kemal Atkins is back after starting seven games at split end. Atkins, who missed spring workouts due to off-season knee surgery, was second on the club with 24 receptions last season.

Craig Styron and Anthony Smith split time at the flanker position in 1990, and both return. Styron started in six contests, and Smith got the nod in five games a year ago. Smith grabbed 12 passes last season and Styron had four catches on the year. Smith handled 17 punt returns and Styron was the Mountaineers' leading kickoff return man, with 16 for 285 yards. Dexter Strickland returns after lettering in 1990, and Ivan Copney is back after missing all of last season due to a knee injury. Copney lettered in 1989 at split end.

At tight end, three lettermen are back, making this the deepest position on the offensive unit. Will Barber, a starter in five contests, Loren Price, a starter in two games, and Kevin Morris all return after seeing considerable action in 1990. Price grabbed four passes last season, Barber snared two and Morris had one on the year.

"We have a chance to be very good with eight experienced receivers heading into 1991. Everybody has seen playing time, caught passes and made important blocks. This is an area that we don't have very many question marks. We have to get Atkins back from his knee surgery and we need to keep improving. But, we have as deep a tight end position as you can have, with three players who have lots of experience."

DEFENSIVE LINE

"We have exceptional depth on our defensive front and that enabled us to move some linemen over to offense this spring. We have a chance to be very good on line with the level of experience the returnees have."

Six lettermen return to the defensive front, with two-time All-Southern Conference Avery Hall back for his junior season, senior Pat Moore at nose tackle, part-time starters Sean Swoope and W.C. Murphy returning at end, and reserves Greg Shelton and Kevin Sikorski also returning after earning letters in 1990. Hall has started in all 23 of his college contests and made 64 tackles, tops among lineman, a season ago. Moore has started in nine games the past two years. Swoope started in six games and Murphy in five last season at one end spot, and the pair combined for 67 tackles in 1990. Sikorski played in all 11 games last season, with Shelton seeing action in eight.

LINEBACKERS

Just one starter returns to the linebacking corps, but eight lettermen are back to man both the inside and outside spots. Headlining the returnees is outside linebacker Rico Mack. Mack, a first team All-Southern Conference performer and third team Associated Press All-America pick, is back after topping the squad in tackles with 94. He was the team leader in tackles for loss (10), fumble recoveries (2), caused fumbles (3) and tied for the interception with four. He posted eight or more tackles in eight of 11 outings in 1990 and had over 10 on two occasions. Three other lettermen return to the outside linebacker position in Steve Patterson, Tony Leonard, and John Fuller. Patterson ranked 10th on the squad in tackles with 43 tackles in 11 outings. Leonard also saw action in all 11 games, finishing with 24 stops. Fuller made 16 tackles in 11 games in 1990.

At inside linebacker, three lettermen are missing, including both starters, but four letter winners return. Brent David, a 1989 letterman, is back after missing all of 1990 due to disciplinary reasons. Tony Davis and Chris Holloway return after earning letters as reserves a season ago. And, Ben Pardue is on hand again after missing the campaign due to injury. Davis was 13th on the tackle charts with 25 stops a season ago and Holloway made 14 tackles in 11 games last season.

"We have four lettermen at both the inside and outside linebacker spots and that depth is a big key for us in 1991. We have young talent and players with a lot of experience coming back, despite the loss of three starters. Mack is coming off a tremendous year and we expect all our returnees to play major roles for us this season."

SECONDARY

"We return both starting cornerbacks and at free safety we replace an 11-game starter we lost with a player who was a first team all-conference selection as a junior. That really gives us three starters back in our opinion and three other experienced lettermen returning. So, we feel that the secondary is a strong area for us going into fall practice."

Steve Wilks and Mark Mayo return to starting spots at the left and right corners and Gary Dandridge, a first team All-Southern Conference choice in 1989 is slated for duty at free safety. Dandridge missed the 1990 season due to disciplinary reasons. A preseason All-America in 1990 despite his absence, Dandridge ranked second on the squad in defensive stops in 1989 with 89, including a team-best 18-tackle outing against Virginia Military. He played at 6-2, 204 as a junior, but now goes 6-2, 220 at the free safety spot. Mayo tied for the team interception lead with four in 1990, and Wilks, who topped the squad with eight pass deflections last season, were both 11-game starters a year ago. Also back are lettermen Kenny Bright, Will Robinson, and Walter Goodwyn. Bright and Robinson lettered after seeing action in all 11 games in 1990. Goodwyn missed all of last year due to a knee injury suffered in fall drills. He lettered as a reserve in 1989.

KICKING SPECIALISTS

The entire kicking game returns, with punter Harold Alexander, placekicker Jay Millson, and long snapper Rock Thomas. Also back are return men Craig Styron (kickoffs), Kemal Atkins (punts and kickoffs), and Anthony Smith (punts). Alexander was a second team all-league choice after averaging 41.0 yards per kick on 74 punts. He had 27 downed inside the 20-yard line and also booted 13 punts of 50 yards or more. Millson led the team in scoring, going 19-for-19 on point after kicks and was 10-of-15 on field goal tries. Both have started in all 23 games of their college careers. Thomas, who leads all Mountaineers with 34 consecutive starts, has made all but two long snaps the past three seasons and recorded seven tackles last season on special teams.

"Experience is a big plus for our team in the kicking game. These guys have been in big games, made big kicks, key snaps, made some outstanding catches and tremendous returns. This is not an area we take for granted, and we still have to work hard, but we have a great deal of confidence in this area due to the performances these players have turned in over the past seasons."

OVERALL COMMENTS

"We have a large number of lettermen returning, and that is a key for our squad. We are more experienced and have identified depth at nearly every position, and that is very positive heading into 1991. But we still need to become more consistent on offense and have to continue to be an attacking, aggressive defense in order to be successful this season. We are still stressing fundamentals and we have to correct the mistakes we have made and are going to make. We have a good incoming freshman class and we have increased our team speed over last year and we will continue to try and improve our team speed. We lost some quality players from last year's team, but we were fortunate in that we didn't lose a large number of players. We know we are going to have a challenging schedule right from the start, but we also know our players are ready to get the season underway and we have worked awfully hard to be prepared for the 1991 season. Our players have been successful, the program has a lot of tradition, our players know what it takes to be successful, and we are committed to working very hard to continue that tradition and be successful."

JERRY MOORE

Head Coach

Jerry Moore is in his third season as head football coach at Appalachian State University, and his 10th year as a Division I head coach. A veteran of 24 seasons of college coaching, Moore owns over 28 years of coaching experience. Named head coach of the Mountaineers on March 5, 1989, Moore has a 15-8-0 mark at Appalachian, and in nine seasons as a college head coach he has compiled a 42-56-2 overall mark. Appalachian is Moore's third head coaching post after guiding the football programs at North Texas and Texas Tech. Moore joined the Mountaineers after a season as an assistant at Arkansas.

In 1989, his first as Mountaineer head coach, Moore guided Appalachian to a 9-3-0 overall record, an at-large berth in the NCAA I-AA Playoffs, and a final I-AA ranking of 7th. The Mountaineers finished second in the Southern Conference with a 5-2-0 mark behind NCAA I-AA second-ranked Furman. Included in the 9-3-0 season was a 15-10 victory over Wake Forest in Winston-Salem and an undefeated (6-0-0) home slate. The Mountaineers won seven of their final eight regular season outings, including the final four regular season contests. Moore became the second Mountaineer head mentor to post nine victories in his initial campaign at Appalachian, and the first in 43 seasons. In his first game with the Mountaineers, Moore's squad scored 43 points, the most in a season debut contest in nine years, and just the fifth time an Appalachian has tallied 40 or more points to open a season.

Last season, Moore's squad captured the Southern Conference runner-up spot for the second consecutive season and posted its sixth straight winning record, the longest string of season successes since the 1946 through 1951 Mountaineer teams. Playing one of the most ambitious schedules in school history, with three I-A opponents and two I-AA playoff foes among the first six games, the Mountaineers finished 6-5 overall and 5-2 in Southern Conference play. Moore's gridders finished the year with a strong stretch run, winning four of the final five outings, posting consecutive shutouts in the last two contests, and taking three of the final four road games. Despite just four home games, Appalachian established an average single season attendance figure of 17,091 and were 3-1 in Kidd Brewer Stadium, giving Moore a 9-1 home record in his two seasons.

A native of Bonham, Texas, Moore earned 14 letters in four sports at Bonham High School, earning first team all-state honors at end and playing in the 1957 Texas High School All-Star game.

From Bonham, Moore went on to play at Baylor for John Bridgers. As a sophomore in 1958, Moore ranked eighth in the nation in receptions and in his senior season finished as the country's seventh-leading pass catcher. He captained the 1960 team that played in the Gator Bowl, and finished the season as the nation's 11th ranked squad.

After earning his undergraduate degree in Finance and Economics from Baylor in 1961, Moore began his coaching career as an assistant at Corsicana (Texas) High School. In four seasons at Corsicana, the squad compiled a 39-7-1 record, including a 14-0 mark and the Class AAA state championship in 1963.

In 1965 Moore moved to Southern Methodist for an eight-year stint with Hayden Fry. He coached linebackers and defensive ends in his first two seasons with the Mustangs, then handled the receivers for six years. During his stay at SMU, the Mustangs captured the Southwest Conference title in 1966, earning a trip to the Cotton Bowl, and in 1968, defeated Oklahoma in the Bluebonnet Bowl. The 1966 squad ended the year as the nation's ninth-ranked team, and the 1968 team, featuring the NCAA's top passer in Chuck Hixson, finished 14th in the final poll.

Mountaineers

Following the 1972 season, Moore joined Tom Osbourne's staff at Nebraska as receivers coach and began his duties with the Cornhuskers in time for their Orange Bowl victory over Notre Dame on Jan. 1, 1973. It would mark the first of seven straight bowl appearances for Moore at Nebraska. In Moore's six seasons at Nebraska, the Cornhuskers compiled a 56-16-2 record, including a 5-2 mark in bowl games. Serving as offensive coordinator, Moore saw the Cornhuskers lead the nation in total offense in 1978, averaging over 500 yards per game, and during the six-year stint Nebraska never ranked lower than 11th in the final polls. His tenure in Lincoln gave Moore the opportunity to coach in the Orange (twice), Cotton, Sugar, Fiesta, Bluebonnet, and Liberty Bowls.

In 1979 Moore accepted the head coaching position at North Texas, replacing Hayden Fry. In his first season, the Mean Green posted a 5-6-0 record, despite playing several Big Eight and Southwest Conference opponents. Included in the five wins were victories over Texas-El Paso, New Mexico State, and Louisiana Tech. The next season, Moore's Eagles finished with a 6-5-0 overall mark, with impressive wins over UTEP, Southwestern Louisiana, Memphis State, and Northeast Louisiana. The five losses came at the hands of SMU, Houston (24-20), Tulsa (28-27), Brigham Young, and Miami (Fla.).

On Jan. 4, 1981, Moore assumed the head coaching duties at Texas Tech. In his five seasons with the Red Raiders, his squads were 16-37-2. In 16 games his Tech teams lost by a touchdown or less, nine of those by three points or less, and four times lost by just one point. In his final year at Lubbock, the Red Raiders lost four games by margins of two points or less. Moore's 1984 Tech club led the NCAA in kickoff returns, with an average run back of 26.2 yards, and the Red Raiders topped the nation in passing defense, allowing just 114 yards per game. The 1984 Red Raider team also featured the NCAA's leading kickoff return specialist in freshman Keith Henderson, who boasted a 28.9 average per return.

Following his five years at Texas Tech, Moore entered private business and spent two years away from football before joining Ken Hatfield's staff at Arkansas for the 1988 season. The Razorbacks captured the Southwest Conference title and played in the Cotton Bowl. Arkansas finished among the nation's top 10-ranked teams, posting a 10-2-0 overall record. The Razorbacks won their first 10 games of the 1988 season. Following the Cotton Bowl, Hatfield named Moore the Razorbacks' recruiting coordinator.

Moore, born July 18, 1939, is married to the former Margaret Starnes, also a Baylor graduate, and they are the parents of sons Chris, 24, and Scott, 22, and daughter Elizabeth, 20.

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE

Appalachian State University is a member of the Southern Conference, one of the nation's oldest intercollegiate athletic conferences. The 10-team league is composed of members Appalachian State, The Citadel, Davidson, East Tennessee State, Georgia Southern, Furman, Marshall, Tenn-Chattanooga, Virginia Military Institute, and Western Carolina.

The Southern Conference beginnings can be traced to 1894 when several football-playing institutions formed a confederation known as the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association. By 1920 the SIAA had 30 members.

In February 1921, officials from 15 institutions met in Atlanta, Ga., and established the Southern Intercollegiate Conference and the following 14 schools were original members - Alabama, Auburn, Clemson, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi State, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Tennessee, Virginia, Virginia Tech, and Washington & Lee.

The growth of the SIC was rapid and within a year, Florida, Louisiana State, Mississippi, South Carolina, Vanderbilt and Tulane were added. In 1923, Sewanee was admitted, with current member Virginia Military Institute joining in 1924. Duke became the next conference member in 1929.

In 1923 the league was officially renamed the Southern Conference. Through the years, the conference membership has changed. In 1932, 13 of the 23 members left to form the Southeastern Conference.

In February 1936, six new members were admitted, including current members Davidson, Furman and The Citadel. In 1953, there was another mass exodus of schools from the league, this to form the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Appalachian joined the conference in 1971, with Marshall, Tenn-Chattanooga, and Western Carolina being admitted in 1977. East Tennessee State came into the league in 1978. Georgia Southern was admitted in 1991.

The Southern Conference declares champions in 10 men's sports — football, soccer, cross country, basketball, indoor track, wrestling, baseball, outdoor track, tennis and golf - and six women's sports — volleyball, cross country, basketball, indoor track, outdoor track and tennis.

Wright Waters serves as commissioner of the Southern Conference. Tom Hunnicutt and Mary Wayte serve as associate commissioners. Hunnicutt also supervises football and baseball officials. Jim Burch supervises men's basketball officials and June Courteau serves as supervisor of women's basketball officials. Geoff Cabe is assistant commissioner for sports information and Julie Brittenum is assistant commissioner for league championships. League offices are in Asheville, N.C.

The Southern Conference annually awards the Commissioner's Cup to the institution which accumulates the greatest number of points in men's championship competition throughout the year. The Germann Cup, signifying the overall winner in women's competition, is also given by the conference.

KIDD BREWER STADIUM

Kidd Brewer Stadium, home of the Mountaineers since 1962, stands 3,280 feet above sea level and seats 18,000. The first facility in either North or South Carolina to install artificial turf, Appalachian and Elon staged the first game on fake grass in the Carolinas, Oct. 3, 1970.

Opened Sept. 15, 1962, the stadium was originally constructed with 10,000 permanent seats. Seating capacity was expanded to 18,000 following the 1978 season. A multi-purpose facility, Kidd Brewer Stadium is also home to Appalachian soccer and men's and women's track teams. Intramural sports, classes and the community use the facility, as well. The eight-lane, all-weather metric track was installed in 1984. Owens Field House, at the north end of the stadium, houses athletic and fundraising offices, lockerrooms and equipment areas. In 1989, a new building was added adjacent to the field house with athletic and coaching offices, training rooms, strength and conditioning areas, and lockerrooms.

The stadium is named after Kidd Brewer, the Mountaineers' most successful head coach (in terms of winning percentage), and a colorful part of North Carolina history.

Brewer, a Winston-Salem, N.C., native, served as coach of the Mountaineers for four seasons (1935-38), compiling a 30-5-3 overall mark. An All-American backfield star and holder of 12 letters at Duke University, Brewer's 1937 Appalachian squad was unbeaten and unscored upon in the regular season.

After leaving Appalachian, Brewer started and World War II ended, a sales career. He served as a Naval lieutenant in the Pacific. After the war Brewer was secretary to U.S. Sen. Josiah W. Bailey (D-N.C.). Upon Bailey's death in office Brewer served his replacement, Sen. William B. Umstead, as administrative assistant.

Brewer returned to North Carolina and ran for lieutenant governor in 1956. Between campaigns for governor (1964) and state court of appeals (1968), he made a name for himself as a developer, insurance salesman and philanthropist.

Kidd Brewer Stadium, dedicated Sept. 3, 1988, from 1962 to 1988 was named for William J. Conrad, a former Appalachian State University trustee and R.J. Reynolds executive.

Twenty-two Mountaineers have earned All-America honors (1st, 2nd or 3rd team selections only) 26 times in the past 54 seasons. Appalachian gridders have been named to All-America squads by the Associated Press in NCAA Division I-AA for seven consecutive seasons. In that seven year span, six players have been selected to first-team All-America honor squads. In 1989, Appalachian was the only NCAA I-AA institution to place two players on the Associated Press first-team unit (Derrick Graham and Keith Collins). In the past seven seasons, nine Apps have been selected as I-AA All-Americans.

Four Mountaineers have been named All-America in two consecutive seasons. Ted Reitzle was the first to accomplish the feat, earning berths on All-America squads in 1939 and 1940. Greg Van Orden was the next to do it, named in both 1962 and 1963. Larry Hand repeated the feat in 1963 and 1964, and John Settle earned All-America honors in 1985 and 1986.

Appalachian has had two players be named All-America in the same season on five occasions since 1948.

APPALACHIAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Appalachian State University is a comprehensive university, one of 16 members of the University of North Carolina system and is located in Boone, North Carolina, in the heart of the Blue Ridge mountains. the borders of Virginia and Tennessee are nearby and the university is less than two hours away from the region's major airports and population centers.

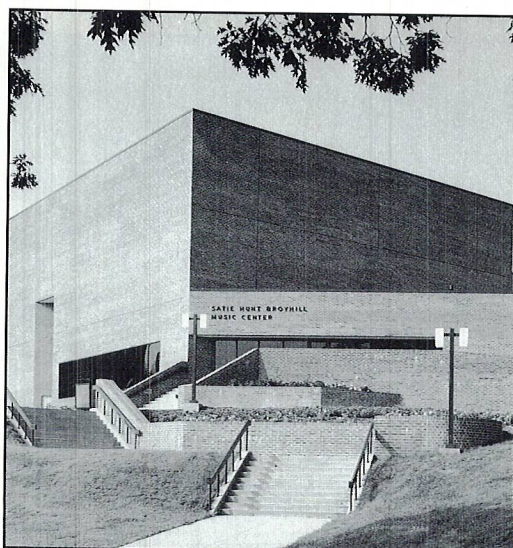

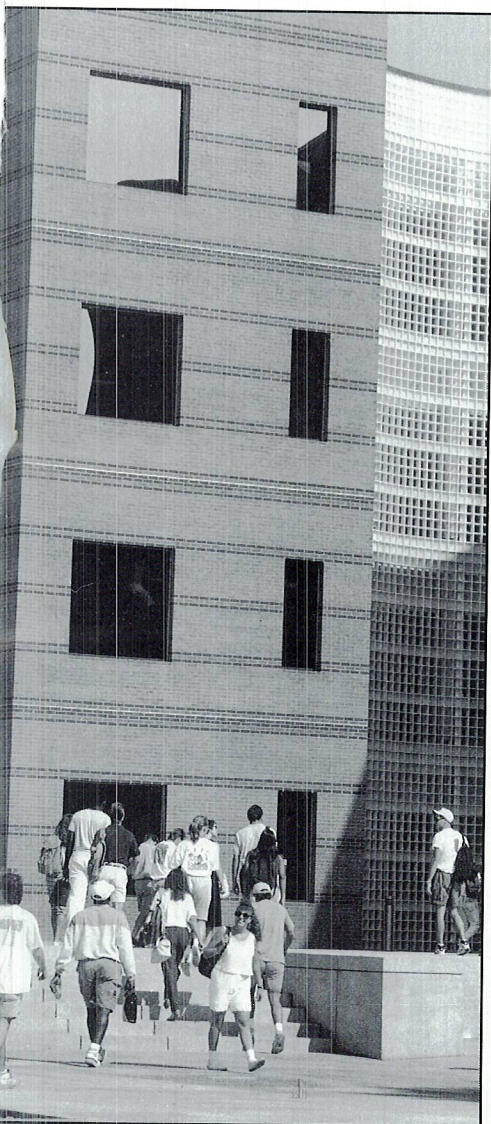

Appalachian was founded in 1899 as Watauga Academy and has grown steadily through its transformation as Appalachian State Normal School in 1925 to Appalachian State Teachers' College in 1929 to Appalachian State University in 1967 and a part of the consolidated University of North Carolina in 1971.

At Appalachian, instruction is the primary mission, with research and public service complementing classroom teaching. Appalachian is recognized coast to coast for solid instruction.

North Carolina residents make up 90 per cent of the 11,501-member student body, and come from 97 counties within the state. Appalachian offers 92 undergraduate majors and 82 graduate majors among its 174 degree programs. Classes are kept small at a time of record enrollment, with the student/faculty ratio of 15.7 to one, allowing close faculty-student contact. The faculty numbers 510 full-time members, with 87 per cent holding doctorates.

Appalachian has been cited by U.S. News & World Report for its academic reputation, student selectivity, and faculty quality. Money magazine has called Appalachian "one of ten public colleges with an ivy twist," on the basis of its selective admissions and emphasis on reasonably priced, quality undergraduate instruction.

Appalachian graduates are recognized as well-educated and prepared for life after college by the Fortune 500 corporations, and the state and federal agencies that on recruit on campus. Additionally, the College of Education supplies over 25 per cent of the state's public school teachers and administrators.

Mountaineers

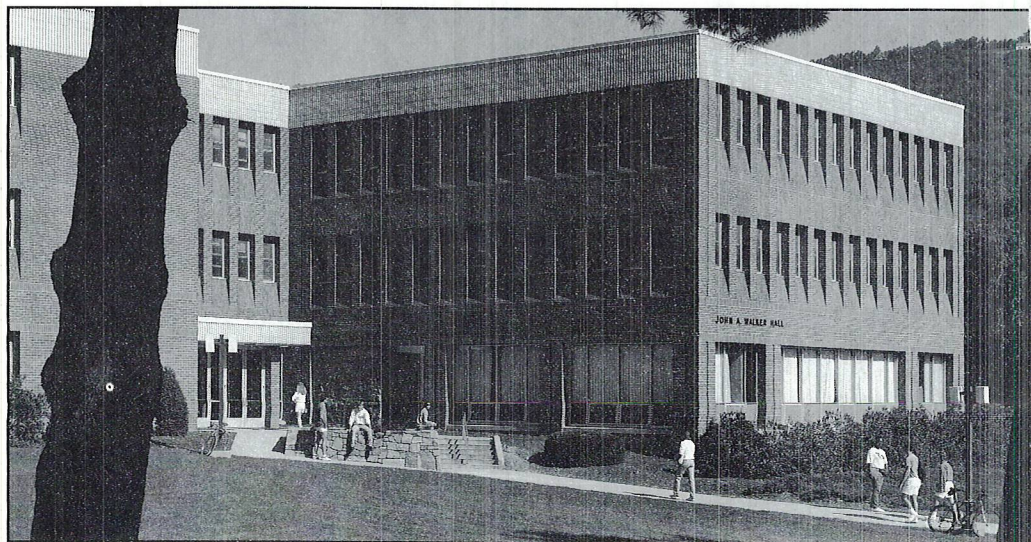

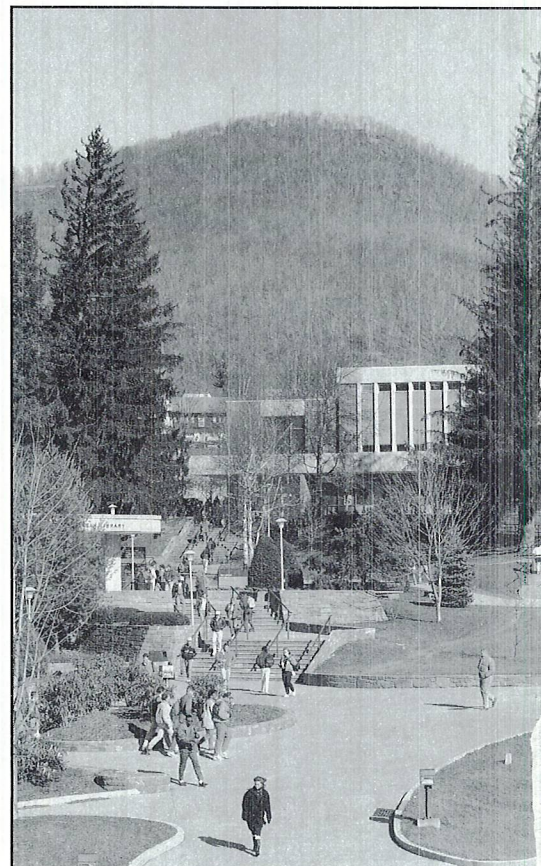

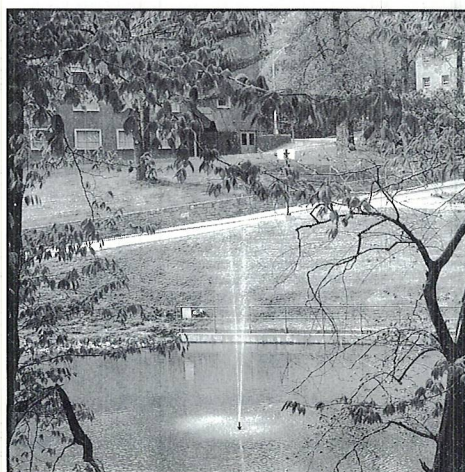

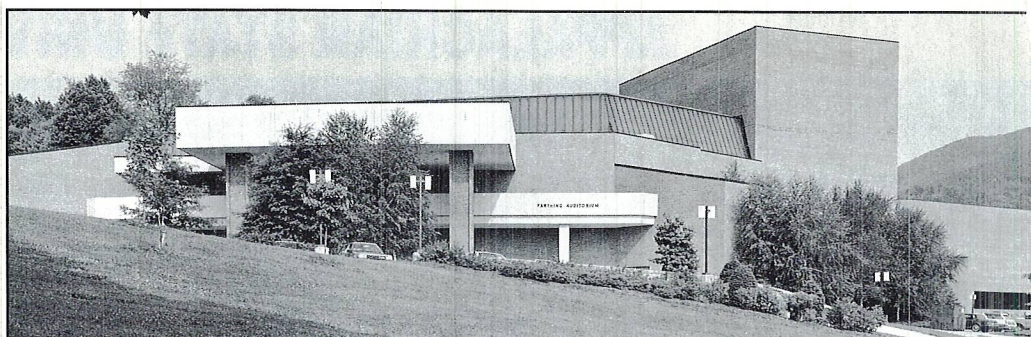

Appalachian supports a broadbased athletics program, sponsoring 10 men's and eight women's intercollegiate sports. The Mountaineers hold Division I status in the NCAA and have been members of the Southern Conference since 1971.

Appalachian has received the Commissioner's Cup for overall excellence in the men's program 12 of the past 14 years, and the German Cup, recognizing the top women's program in the conference, all five years the award has been given. Academically, the athletic program has been among the leaders in graduation rate of student-athletes. Appalachian has also been at the forefront of drug awareness, education, counseling and testing for student-athletes.

Since joining the Southern Conference, the Mountaineers have captured league championships in football, men's and women's basketball, volleyball, men's women's cross country, soccer, men's and women's indoor track, wrestling, baseball, men's and women's outdoor track, and men's tennis.

Boone and Appalachian are in the middle of one of the most popular year-round resort areas in the east, featuring skiing and snow-covered mountains in the winter, wildflowers and sparkling streams in the spring, summer canoeing, hiking and camping, and brisk clear and colorful autumns.

DR. JOHN E. THOMAS

Chancellor

Dr. John E. Thomas has been Chancellor of Appalachian State University since July 1979.

A native of Fort Worth, Texas, Thomas was Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs for five years at Appalachian. Prior to that he was a department head and dean at East Texas State University for four years, serving as head of the General Business Department from 1970-72 and Dean of the College of Sciences and Technology from 1972-74.

Thomas holds the Bachelor's Degree in Electrical Engineering from the University of Kansas (1953) and is a Registered Professional Engineer. He has the J.D. degree in Law from the University of Missouri at Kansas City (1961) and is a member of the Georgia Bar Association and the Federal Bar Association.

His master's degree is in Research and Development Management and his doctorate is in Business Administration. Both degrees were earned at Florida State University (1965 and 1970, respectively).

Thomas has served as a member of the prestigious National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Council. He is a former member of the legislative mandated Commission on Jobs for Economic Growth, and also a former member of the Board of Governors Task Force to Study Teacher Education Programs in North Carolina, where he chaired the Programs Committee. He also served a term on the Executive Council of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, and has served as President of the North Carolina Association of Colleges and Universities.

Prior to his experience over the last 22 years in higher education, Thomas served in various management positions from 1963-70, with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Cape Kennedy, Florida. His last NASA assignment was as Chief of the Requirements and Resources Office for the Director of Technical Support where he was responsible for the research and development and administrative budgets for some 500 Civil Service and 5,000 contracted personnel. While with NASA, Thomas also taught Part-time at Rollins College, Patrick Air Force Base, and Florida Institute of Technology. The courses were in Labor Law, Labor Economics, Economics, and Management.

Thomas' military experience includes two years in the U.S. Marine Corps and one year in the U.S. Navy. His service as an electronics technician and communications officer led to interests in communications, which are being satisfied now in his appointment to the North Carolina Agency for Public Telecommunications. He has served as both Vice-Chairman and Chairman at that Agency.
